POVERTY LEADERSHIP PANEL

Glasgow's Action Plan for Change

The Poverty Leadership Panel's vision is that poverty is made a thing of the past. We want all of us across Glasgow to contribute to significantly reducing poverty and exclusion over the next decade, by acting now.

We want Glasgow to be a place where everyone agrees that poverty is an outrage, and where every person feels that they can be a part of Glasgow.

Action Plan for Change

This document sets out Glasgow's plan to reduce poverty. It is a document produced by, and for the whole of the city.

Poverty Leadership Panel

The Poverty Leadership Panel is made up of public, private and third sector organisations, as well as representatives from communities living in poverty. It is the Panel's responsibility to make sure that each individual Panel member and their organisation contribute to this Action Plan and its goals. It is hoped that momentum around this work will result in the involvement of more of the city's organisations and people living in poverty.

The Panel will also be accountable for the delivery of the Action Plan for Change so that it makes a difference to people's lives.

For more information on the Panel, please see the Poverty Leadership Panel's website www.glasgow.gov.uk/index.aspx?articleid=10206

Co-production

Partners who have particularly contributed to the development of this plan so far include: the Community Health Partnership, Wheatley Housing Group, Glasgow Centre for Population Health, Volunteer Glasgow, Glasgow Homelessness Network, Oxfam, the Glasgow Alcohol and Drug Partnership, the Third Sector Forum, Glasgow Disability Alliance, Faith in Community Scotland and Glasgow City Council.

Significantly, individuals across the city have volunteered their time to voice their experiences of living in poverty, and to make sure this document is meaningful.

Poverty in Glasgow

- > Around one in three of the city's children live in poverty. Just over a quarter of them live in workless households.
- > About one in five families with children say they don't manage well financially, have some money difficulties or are in deep financial trouble.
- > About one in six adults don't have access to a bank or building society account.
- > Around one in five working Glaswegians earns below the Living Wage.
- > Almost half of working-age Scots living in poverty are in households where someone works.

The Work

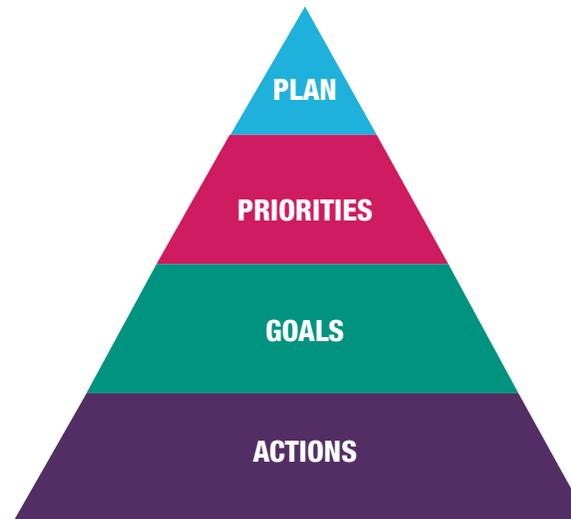

The Panel has agreed that the Action Plan be organised into six priorities. There is of course, a wealth of other work underway across the city which complements the Panel's priorities.

The Panel's six priorities are:

- > Mitigating the impact of welfare reform
- > Reducing child poverty
- > Improving the accessibility of quality paid work and recognising the value of unpaid work (work and worth)
- > Giving people access to quality financial advice (credit and debt)
- > Challenging negative attitudes about people in poverty
- > Involving people with direct experience of poverty

The Action Plan is split into a number of key priorities. Progress in each priority will be realised by achievement of its associated goals. Work towards achieving these goals is set out as actions, with their own success measures and timescales.

This document is set out in this order, with a description of the priorities, followed by a statement of the agreed goals and the actions that underpin them. Before each priority there is a summary of key actions.

This Action Plan is based on a human rights based approach. This ensures both the empowerment of people in poverty and the ability and accountability of organisations in Glasgow to protect and promote their rights.

The Plan also takes account of internationally recognised rights and standards, including those found in the UN International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights, the UN Disability Convention, the UN Child Rights Convention as well as the European Convention on Human Rights.

At the back of this plan, there is a page outlining links to some pieces of existing partnership work (see page 30 Appendix).

Priority one: Mitigate the impact of welfare reform

People in Glasgow know welfare reform is happening but may not know how it will affect them personally and this is causing anxiety for many people. We hope to mitigate the impact of welfare reform, but also to alleviate some of this anxiety.

Goals

- > Benefit recipients understand the personal impact of welfare reforms
- > People challenging DWP decisions receive appropriate personal and technical support
- > The burden of welfare reforms for those living in poverty is analysed and communicated, to inform changes to national and local policy and delivery

Key actions

- > Work with local people and organisations to agree six simple 'key messages' about the changes, and support them to communicate these messages to their peers, members and networks
- > Produce an 'Appeals Pack' with a clear statement of rights and simple appeal letters that can be used by claimants
- > Standardise an agreed method of capturing case studies to highlight the impact of welfare reform on people in poverty
- > Work with local employers to identify and implement measures to support employees affected by reforms

Participation

An event was held in August 2013 to look at the goals for this work stream and possible actions to achieve them. There was representation from public sector bodies, Oxfam, One Parent Families Scotland, Glasgow Council for the Voluntary Sector, Glasgow Association for Mental Health and some locally based third sector organisations.

Benefit recipients understand the personal impact of welfare reforms.	Benefit recipients can take appropriate action, whether claiming or appealing.	Develop simple key messages about welfare reform to be communicated through additional channels, and in particular to people who do not have access to the internet.	Work with local partners and communities to agree a simple statement with six key messages about welfare reform changes, to be revised twice a year to capture current changes. Could include information on what's not changed and the Scottish Welfare Fund. GCC	Number of updates produced. Survey monkey of GAIN contractors/advice agencies about users understanding of benefit changes. 'Quiz' on GAIN website about key messages monitored for changes in results over time.	First key messages statement, launch events, briefings for organisations and first update/ briefings over 2014 to 2015 then ongoing.
		Support people affected by welfare reform to be frontline communicators of information.	Working with existing structures, hold launch events to disseminate key messages and to brief community 'frontline communicators'. Communicators will have ongoing support. GCC	Numbers briefed and supported as frontline communicators. Before and after surveys of community members at briefing events to assess changes in knowledge about key changes, what can be done.
			Identify channels for communicating information quickly, for example, buses, food banks, parking tickets, till receipts. GCC	Feedback from community members about ongoing support.
		Enable more organisations working with people affected by welfare reforms to communicate effectively.	Identify 'hot spots' (low uptake, etc) for targeting through analysis of data. GCC	Number of organisations attending briefing sessions.
			Organise briefings for organisations about key messages in three areas of the city. GCC	Survey of organisations to determine briefings' usefulness.

Priority two: Reduce child poverty

Glasgow has the highest rate of child poverty in Scotland. We will take specific action to place our children at the heart of efforts to reduce child poverty, as well as to maximise families' disposable incomes.

In addition to the goals and actions below, work contributing to reducing child poverty will be progressed through other priorities in this Action Plan.

Goals

- > Children and young people's opinions are taken into account
- > Families disposable incomes are maximised
- > The aspirations of the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the UK Child Poverty Act are translated into measurable local actions

Key actions

- > Engaging young people in 'poverty proofing' the school day
- > Participatory research led by young people about improvement to services they use
- > Establish a dedicated multi-disciplinary team to implement best practice from Healthier, Wealthier Children

Participation

A Child Poverty Group has been working on this agenda for several years; its work now informs the Poverty Leadership Panel. The group has representation from the voluntary sector, the Council, the NHS, Glasgow Housing Association, the Glasgow Centre for Population Health and the Child Poverty Action Group.

In June 2013 the group hosted a 'Positive about Children and Families' event which was attended by 80 people from different organisations, including individual families and activists. Key recurring themes included the fear about the changes to the welfare benefit system and about the costs of enabling children to be part of their peer group.

POVERTY LEADERSHIP PANEL

Glasgow's Action Plan for Change

In addition to the following goals and actions, work contributing to reducing child poverty will be progressed through other priorities in this Action Plan.

Goal	What success will look like	What we will do differently across the city	How we will do this	How we will measure this	Timeframe
Children and young people's opinions are taken into account.	Children and young people living in poverty can influence their environment.	'Poverty proof' the school day from a child's perspective to eliminate stigma and financial barriers that may impede attainment.	Work with children and staff in schools to explore how policy and practice within these schools can inadvertently add to the marginalisation and stigmatisation of children living in poverty. GCC, GCPH	Changes to school day as suggested by young people.	Commence work in schools in April 2014
			Incorporate technology into the new schools building programme so that free school meal entitlement can be managed without associated stigma. GCC	Number of primary and secondary schools with appropriate technology.
		Young people living in poverty will be supported to lead service improvements.	Participatory research project led by young people. GHA	Outcomes to be determined by young people.

Goal	What success will look like	What we will do differently across the city	How we will do this	How we will measure this	Timeframe
Families disposable incomes are maximised.	Fewer families are living in poverty.	Provide integrated and holistic support for vulnerable families.	Establish a dedicated multi-disciplinary team to implement best practice from Healthier, Wealthier Children. GCC, NHS	Number of families accessing financial advice.	2014
		The poverty impact on families is considered in service plans by the public sector.	Public services consider the cost of access and participation for families using services.	Number of families accessing family-related benefits to which they are entitled.
			Extend family discounts for services within the city, for example, the Young Scot Card.	Work with local champions and utilise media opportunities to promote awareness of what's on offer, particularly working with specific groups of vulnerable young people.
Translate the aspirations of the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the UK Child Poverty Act into measurable local actions.	A citywide commitment to meeting local child poverty milestones.	Develop shared objectives and targets amongst family support, child care and employability services.	Establish a local model for monitoring progress towards Child Poverty Act targets. NHS	Action against shared targets.
			Explore the development of a range of 'exchange' schemes such as time banks, toy exchange etc.

Priority three: Work and worth

Given the stark statistics on in-work poverty, we hope to not only help people in poverty into employment, but also into a job where pay and conditions can sustain them and their families.

We will also support volunteering, as unpaid work contributes equally to the life of the city.

Goals

- > People living in poverty are integrated into economic developments so they can equally compete for work and business opportunities
- > The city increases the number of employers and jobs in Glasgow to create greater opportunities for people in poverty
- > Paid work provides a sufficient wage to enable an adequate standard of living in Glasgow
- > Establish child care which supports parents' aspirations to take up training, education or employment
- > Volunteering is recognised as having value in itself and people living in poverty can access volunteering opportunities

Key actions

- > More effectively using evidence from people struggling against poverty to inform the development of job creation and employment programmes
- > Investigate options for alternative models of child care
- > Encourage entrepreneurship particularly in areas in the lowest 15% of SIMD datazones
- > Increase employers and employees' understanding of statutory rights
- > Investigate options for public sector programmes aimed at incentivising employees' progression
- > Work with Jobs Centre Plus and the Home Office to clarify guidance and raise awareness of rules around volunteering and receipt of benefits, and in relation to asylum seekers

Participation

We will consult widely on these goals with people in poverty and employers and use this information.

Goal	What success will look like	What we will do differently across the city	How we will do this	How we will measure this	Timeframe
The city increases the number of employers and jobs in Glasgow to create greater opportunities for those looking for work.	A significant increase in the number of employers from the current baseline.	Develop proposals to encourage entrepreneurship in the city, increasing business startup and providing more support to existing businesses, particularly for those areas in bottom 15% of SIMD datazones.	Provide more rounded business support with specific work around providing free accommodation for emerging businesses. GCC	Increase in business base by 10% by 2017.	Incremental to 2017.
		Employers are more engaged in creating labour demand for people in poverty.		Increase in number of employee jobs by 2017.
Paid work provides a sufficient wage to enable an adequate standard of living in Glasgow.	Low earners can improve their earnings over time.	Investigate options for public sector programmes aimed at incentivising employees' progression. This investment should be targeted at those sectors that have a high level of entry level employment and turnover.		Rate of underemployment.
		Increase employers and employees' understanding of statutory rights.		Female and male labour force participation rates.

Priority four: Credit and debt

People in poverty pay more for many goods and services. We aim to reduce some of these costs, particularly in relation to small loans and utilities.

Goals

- > Reduce the 'poverty premium' involved in accessing financial services
- > Ensure personal debt is not a reason for people not to start or leave paid work
- > People, in particular young people, have the information to make informed decisions about their finances
- > People requiring specialist services, in particular domestic abuse victims, are provided with timely and appropriate financial advice

Key actions

- > Support credit unions and Scotcash to mimic key pay day loan company operations, like speed, simplicity and cost
- > Establish a city wide service that offers micro loans at low cost, through Scotcash and credit unions
- > Use city's collective leverage to secure lower prices from financial and utilities institutions
- > Improve how employment advice is factored into financial advice services
- > Train and support peers to help other young people with financial considerations
- > Training for all financial inclusion service employees about challenges faced by domestic abuse victims

Participation

A stakeholder event was held in August 2013 for 60 people, including people who work with those affected by poverty and community representatives who support people with direct experience of poverty.

The event reviewed work already underway and then provided an opportunity for people to consider any gaps and opportunities for developing new work.

POVERTY LEADERSHIP PANEL

Reduce the 'poverty premium' involved in accessing financial services.	People in poverty have low cost alternatives to pay day lenders.	Support credit unions and Scotcash to mimic key pay day loan company operations, like speed, simplicity and cost.	Implement and deliver the commitments of the GCC Payday Lending Sounding Board. GCC	Increased use of more affordable credit options.	To be fully implemented by March 2015.
		Discourage people's use of Continuous Payment Authorities (CPA).	Provide support to people to help them to exit CPAs, by for instance by promoting 'Know your Rights' guidance. GCC
		Establish a city wide service that offers micro loans at low cost, through Scotcash and credit unions.	Identify locally trusted community groups (for example, Jeely Piece Club) to locally administer a centrally held fund, according to established criteria, with input from a banking partner. Practices of doorstep lenders to be emulated.	Number of community groups involved. Take up of loans.
	There is a range of accessible and lower cost products for people in poverty.	Use city's collective leverage to effect change in practice of financial and utilities institutions.	Agreement from partners on approach to for example, bulk buying utilities, bank accounts etc. GCC	Partners formal agreement. Number of new products available.

City Property/Glasgow Housing Association to investigate rental policy specific to credit unions.		To be fully implemented by March 2015.
			Link Credit Unions Expansion Project budgeting supports to Financial Inclusion Contract and services. GCC
	People in poverty can access appropriate financial services.	Establish clear pathways to a range of financial services so that people in poverty can access the best service for them.	Promote credit unions and Scotcash through city partners and Glasgow City Council family. GCC	Map complete and verifiable. Track numbers of new members and increase take up of products.
			Credit Union Strategy Group to map services, capacity and aspirations.
			Create working group (including banks).
			Practitioners' events to explore issues around referrals etc for frontline staff.
			Link to Financial Capability services.
Establish a peer support programme. GCC

Priority five: Challenge negative attitudes about people in poverty

We want to start challenging negative attitudes about people living in poverty, as we know that this is itself a barrier for many people.

Goals

- > Improving services so they're as responsive as possible to the needs of people living in poverty
- > Ensuring that we do not stigmatise people struggling against poverty

Key actions

- > Widely communicate complex nature of poverty and case studies of individual people's success stories
- > Senior staff mentored by someone who has experience of poverty
- > Local volunteers mentored as advocates to help neighbours realise their rights
- > Work with media outlets to develop positive case studies of people living in poverty for a citywide campaign
- > Inclusion of anti-stigma messaging in existing communications, such as welfare reform campaigns

Participation

A wide range of individuals, groups and organisations were involved in developing actions to meet these goals, including public and voluntary sector organisations and people struggling with poverty.

Around 20 people worked intensively on priorities and possible messaging for a campaign. A larger workshop, involving around 40 people, was held in August 2013. Led by Wheatley Housing Group, with key contributions from the Poverty Alliance and Oxfam Scotland, this working session tested initial ideas and developed a range of new ideas which have been translated into the draft action plan.

Ensuring we do not stigmatise people struggling with poverty.	Glasgow does not stigmatise its citizens for being poor.	Deliver a citywide campaign targeted at all residents to challenge stereotypes about poverty.	Sign up to inclusion of deprivation within Equality Impact Assessments in all public services in Glasgow, with supporting guidance to assess impact of services on people living in poverty, for example, services to suit working poor – accessible hours, appointments etc. GCC and others	Improvement in attitudes as reflected in Glasgow Household Survey (2013 and 2015). Twice a year audit, for one day of all local media output, including paper, on-line and broadcast content.	2014.
		Media organisations promote positive and accurate messages of people living in poverty.	Work with media outlets to develop positive case studies of people living in poverty. Oxfam, GCC, GHA, NHS media teams
			People in poverty generate content for social media. PTC
			Engage with private businesses to discuss sponsorship of campaign as part of their corporate social responsibility.

Priority six: Involve people with direct experience of poverty

People with direct experience of the problems we are trying to fix must be involved in the process.

Goals > People living in poverty are directly involved in the processes and decisions that shape Glasgow's future

- Key actions
- > Participation by people in poverty on the Poverty Leadership Panel and on its satellite working groups providing a 'real time' advisory role
 - > Engagement with people experiencing poverty about the services they use to be facilitated by the Third Sector
 - > Hold community workshops in Glasgow's deprived areas, led by local people and enabling communities to determine priorities, local actions and solutions to prevent and alleviate poverty

Participation In September 2013, the 'All in..!' workshop brought together 34 people from across 27 third sector and housing organisations in Glasgow. It was the first of two workshops planned for 2013. Using a process of open space and round table discussion, organisations were invited to pledge a commitment to bringing forward the views of people using their service. We also asked what more we could do to get people participating in the poverty strategy.

Glasgow's Action Plan for Change

Goal	What success will look like	What we will do differently across the city	How we will do this	How we will measure this	Timeframe
People living in poverty are directly involved in the processes and decisions that shape Glasgow's future.	People with direct experience of poverty are involved in policy development and implementation.	Partners will develop a systematic approach to their ways of working so that people living in poverty understand the decisions made about them and can influence those decisions.	Local community leaders form part of the Leadership Panel and its satellite working groups. GCC	Attendance at meetings.	February 2013 onwards.
				Membership on Poverty Leadership Panel.
				Involvement in workstreams' implementation.
	People living in poverty influence change through the services they use.	Service delivery will be informed by the insight of people experiencing poverty, by using the third sector as a conduit.	A new approach to be developed and implemented where the third sector engages with people that use their services. GHN	Feedback from Leadership Panel about qualitative information.	September 2014 onwards.
				Feedback from services about qualitative information.
	Local people take the lead on creating change in their communities.	Provide a structure for local people to define their local context of poverty, in terms of emotional, financial and social stressors.	Develop a participative model that will assist local people to determine priorities, actions and solutions. GHN	Feedback from participants.	January 2014 onwards.

The Action Plan should be considered in the broader context of other partnership working including:

The Single Outcome Agreement 2013 (SOA)

Developed by the Glasgow Community Planning Partnership (GCPP), the SOA has a number of outcomes around vulnerable people in the city. The SOA will reflect and build upon existing work undertaken in the city to support vulnerable residents.

One Glasgow

Is an example of a long-term ambitious programme to deliver upon GCPP's priorities and outcomes. Much of the work of One Glasgow has been to identify and target some of our most vulnerable groups in the city. The GCPP will expand many of the positive elements of the One Glasgow approach. Additionally, the GCPP can build on the early work of the One Glasgow Early Years and Early Intervention approach for children aged 0 to 8, which has developed a model to identify those families with children who are currently 'just coping' and in danger of tipping over into far greater vulnerability or risk if not supported at critical stages.
